The freight forwarders recognize the potential of Alicante as logistic hub for the Mediterranean axis.

The freight forwarder companies - companies that deal with the administrative and logistics tasks necessary for the transportation of goods, specially in ports and airports - recognize the potential and the "historical opportunity" that Alicante has to turn into the centre of a logistic international chain inside the axis of the Mediterranean, as well as into its connection with Africa, as the president of the Spanish Federation of freight forwarders Feteia, Enric Ticó, said yesterday.
