The consumer logistics, less harmed by the crisis.

The logistics activity for high-consumption producers (food, drugstore, electrical appliances, etc.) and retail chains were in 2009 less damaged by the crisis than the logistics services and of transportation linked to other sectors. Thus, according to the information obtained by Alimarket, the joint turnover for consumer logistics of the main 85 operators fell only a 1,5 %, opposite to the decrease of 7,7 % suffered by the rest of transportation and logistics activities of this implied companies group.
